

An exhibition of sculpture and drawings by New York Artist Luise Kaish opened at the St. Paul Art Center today after a pre-opening showing of the artist's work Wednesday evening. The works are on loan from both private and museum collections. Along with the preview of Miss Kaish's work was an exhibition of "Twentieth Century Painting and Sculpture" from the Walker Art Center collection. The exhibition will continue through February 23.

Looking over a sculpture called "Jonah Fleeing Nineveh" (above, left) were Phillip Brunn, co-director of the Staempfli Gallery in New York City, artist Luise Kaish and John Shorger, vice-president of the board of the St. Paul Art Center. Looking over an item from the Walker collection called "Silk," (left) by Eduardo Paulozzi, were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Marzitelli, 1444 N. Victoria, St. Paul. Mr. Marzitelli is president of the board of directors of the St. Paul Art Center.
